Plans for £200m rail link to Luton Airport

BY KATY HALLAM

katy.hallam@bedsonsunday.com

A £200 million tube-style railway system will link Luton Airport with Luton Airport Parkway – if plans are given the green light.

The move would see passengers' journey times cut by two thirds – getting them from the station to the airport in just five minutes on driverless trains.

At the moment, passengers have to catch a bus from the railway station to the airport, which takes around 15 minutes.

The 24-hour system would also see journey times into London's St Pancras cut to less than 30 minutes, with a spokesman for the airport claiming the fast-track service would also make trips between the capital and Luton Airport faster than those flying from Gatwick and Stansted.

Councillor Andy Malcolm, chairman of the London Luton Airport Limited, sparked a huge round of applause when he announced the major development at a special event at London's swanky St Pancras Renaissance Hotel on Friday.

He said: "The scheme we are announcing today will provide a seamless five-minute transfer time between Parkway station and the airport terminal.

"A total journey time of less than 30 minutes from St Pancras to the airport will beat the time from Liverpool Street to Stansted by 20 minutes and better the time from Victoria to Gatwick too."

Work is due to start on the 1.4 mile-link next Autumn if planning permission is granted, and completed by the end of 2020.

Nick Barton, CEO of London Luton Airport, described the announcement as 'staggering' and said it was the first step towards creating a 'world-class air-rail service'.

He added: "The change that is going on in Luton right now is dramatic."

Construction is already under way on the airport's £110 million redevelopment plans to increase its capacity by 50 per cent to 18 million passengers by 2020.

LIFT OFF: A concept drawing for a guided light rail link to London Luton airport, which could be operational by 2020, was unveiled at an investor event in London's St Pancras Renaissance Hotel on Friday afternoon

JAILED: Mohammed Arshad

Former cop banged up for sex offences

A FORMER Bedfordshire Police officer has been jailed after being found guilty of a string of child sex offences.

Mohammed Arshad, 35, of Ferndale Road, Luton, has been handed a 23-year extended sentence, with eight to be served on licence.

Police believe Arshad, also known as 'Waz', may have contacted a number of other young people and are urging any other potential victims to come forward.

Arshad was charged with a total of 22 charges against 13 girls covering a period between October 2012 and December 2014.

He denied all offences, but was convicted of 17 of the charges, including rape, as trial concluded this week.

Editor's Letter

Waving goodbye and saying hello

TELEVISION programmes tell us news is a cut-throat industry in which everyone is out for themselves and reporters would stab each other in the back for a story.

But there are few better examples of teamwork than a newspaper.

There is no doubt everyone on our team would like to see their name on the front page each week – and that is the way it should be. That drive plays a crucial part in what makes our newspaper work week in, week out. But it is just as important as the desire to put the best events possible in our leisure section, help a colleague with their story, or make a round of tea on a tough afternoon.

So it is with sadness that we wish a fond farewell to Carl Mungazi this week.

His passion for our paper and enthusiasm for Luton and its people will be very much missed (as will his tea-making prowess).

But as someone clever once said, nothing is constant but change. And I would say it is usually a force for good. So as Carl moves on to pastures new, we welcome Katy Hallam – our brand new news editor – to the fold. You can say hi to her on Twitter @Katy_Hallam

Councillor quits following anti-semitic Twitter posts

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

POLICE are investigating shocking anti-semitic tweets sent from the Twitter account of a former councillor – including one claiming Adolf Hitler was 'the greatest man in history'.

Aysegul Gurbuz (pictured), 20, who last year became the youngest councillor in Luton's history, resigned on Monday as a result of the fall-out from the tweets.

Another message from the ex-High Town member's page said it was 'disgusting' that Jews had 'so much power in the US'.

Luton Borough Council chief executive Trevor Holden said: "While these comments appear to pre-date her time as a councillor, the council is shocked by these comments."

"This matter will be referred to the council's independent standards committee to allow a full investigation to take place.

"The council expects the highest standards of its councillors and will not accept any behaviour which seeks to or could undermine community cohesion."

The tweets in question were posted between 2011 and 2013.

Ms Gurbuz, who has also been suspended from the Labour Party, said: "Before I was an elected councillor a number of comments were made on my Twitter account that were ill-judged and offensive, regardless of their context."

"As such I believe it is the right thing to acknowledge the pain I have caused and have resigned from Luton Borough Council as an elected representative."

"I will not be issuing any further statements but to all those who campaigned with or voted for me I apologise for letting you and the Labour Party down."

Pooch at the centre of rescue bid

OFF-DUTY RSPCA officers helped rescue an injured dog which went missing from a traveller camp this week.

Dunstable-based Kate Wright led the rescue in Dunstable Downs for the pooch, which had stayed behind when travellers left the site on Monday morning.

Kate said she had spotted the Jack Russell while walking her own dog on her day off.

During the rescue bid the canine narrowly avoided being hit by a car after running into the road.

Kate said: "I saw the dog at 8am when I was walking my dog.

"I tried to catch it but it growled at me and then ran off.

"It was injured but I knew my friend (another RSPCA officer) was coming for a walk with her dogs anyway, so I thought we would try to catch him.

"It was my day off but I've spent it rescuing animals."

DUTY CALLS: RSPCA officer Kate Wright and her colleague put up nets to help catch the injured dog

Travellers plead with council for more help

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

TRAVELLERS who spent the last week moving around different sites in Dunstable have said they need more support from local councils.

The group was evicted from Whipsnade Zoo on Tuesday after they were moved on from Dunstable Downs and the former site of Dunstable Magistrates' Court.

Their first vehicles showed up at the court site on April 6 and angered residents after piles of rubbish were left behind when they moved.

But George Rochford, 40, a car trader from the group, claimed some of the rubbish had not been left by his group and was dumped by others.

He also said a lack of support from Central Bedfordshire Council and Luton Borough Council meant

PACKING UP: Convoy of around 20 vans travellers had no option but to 'keep moving around'.

He said: "We have nowhere else to go and we have to do all the travelling around because the council is not doing anything for us.

"You should ask the council why they have not done anything for travelling people and ask them if all this money they spent evicting travellers is not better spent finding a place. We are going to be here whether the settled people like it or not.

"We have been all over England and other councils are very helpful but Bedfordshire councils do not want to do anything."

Central Bedfordshire said it had 37 permanent traveller sites with 299 pitches.

Jason Longhurst, a council director, said: "We have launched our new Local Plan and the first part of this was to issue a 'call for sites' which includes a call for gypsy and traveller sites. This process closed on Monday and we will now consider all suggestions along with other submissions and in the context of our identified need."

Luton Council said due to 'high demand' all of its pitches were fully occupied and none had been available since 2011.

How to find long-term relief from muscle pain

Advertisement Feature

Almost 31 million days of work were lost in the UK in 2013 due to back, neck and muscle problems, according to the Office for National Statistics (ONS).

Muscle pain and other musculoskeletal conditions account for more prolonged absences than any other ailment.

While most of these conditions can be treated relatively easily with over-the-counter painkillers, sometimes they can develop into chronic conditions that mean sufferers face taking prescription medicine for extended periods. Left untreated, intense and persistent pain can rapidly drain the joy out of life.

Getting an accurate diagnosis (instead of just temporary relief from medication) is essential for developing a long-term solution for the problem, but it is extremely difficult to get an accurate diagnosis.

With innumerable responsibilities requiring more urgent attention than just “muscle pain” the NHS just isn’t set up to find out what is really wrong. The typical tests, if you’re given any at all, just don’t pick up the problem that’s causing the muscle pain. And in those cases all you’re left with is weak advice like “you’re just not stretching enough” or “maybe we can try some stronger medication”.

You might get lots of other advice as well, all of which is just as deeply flawed, and you’re likely to get something different from every healthcare provider that you speak to. They all have their own opinions.

But opinions won’t help you stop the muscle pain. Only a proper diagnosis can lead to the solution to fix this problem...

So what’s the answer?

Recent advances in the diagnosis of muscle pain have led to the development and huge success of a treatment for muscle pain that works directly on the cause of the problem.

The excellent results of this treatment have been published in major medical journals, with satisfaction rates as high as 90%.

In Bedfordshire, you can get this treatment at the Atlas Wellness Centre – the office of muscle pain relief expert Peter Olsson.

Peter and his team of fully trained pain care specialists have helped thousands of patients find relief from their muscle pain.

According to Peter “It is surprising that more of the recommended muscle pain treatments don’t address the underlying causes of the pain.

It always amazes my clients how many muscle pain conditions are connected to poor nerve function. Using a combination of ultra-advanced technology not found elsewhere in Bedfordshire, we precisely diagnose the problem and develop a unique programme to that brings superior long-term results for most people.”

The majority of their clients have enjoyed lasting relief from muscle pain.

Now it’s your turn for a comprehensive consultation and examination of your muscle health... at a heavily discounted rate.

Luton on Sunday has teamed up with the pain therapy specialists at Atlas Wellness Centre to help readers improve their spinal health and relieve their muscle pain.

This is your opportunity to treat the cause of your problem, not just the symptoms – and in the process get your life back.

Simply call 01234 340317 to receive a thorough diagnostic examination with the most advanced technology in the world and a comprehensive easy-to-understand report on your state of health.

Mention this article (CODE: LOS49MPMS2h) and Peter will happily reduce his usual consultation fee of £245 to just £49. That’s a saving of £196!

This is a limited offer. Only 100 reader consultations are available at this exclusively discounted rate – so you’ll need to hurry.

Don’t suffer muscle pain in silence any longer... find out how the latest diagnostic technology can help you pinpoint the causes of your problem. Book a consultation with Peter and his team now by calling 01234 340317. They are waiting to take your call Monday to Friday – but you can call on the weekend, leave a message to reserve your spot, and they will return your call.

Remember - this is a SAFE, non-invasive, drug-free, 100% natural treatment for muscle pain.

To take advantage of this special opportunity, call now on 01234 340317 and quote this discount code: LOS49MPMS2h

Then tear out this article and take it to your appointment to claim your special consultation rate and comprehensive examination. Don’t put off your diagnosis and treatment a moment longer!

Cops call for fast food joint curfew

BY CARL MUNGAZI
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

A SPIKE in anti-social behaviour and violent incidents involving door staff at a McDonald's has led to calls for the restaurant to lose its late night licence.

Door staff at the fast food joint, in George Street, have been filmed on CCTV kicking a man who was on the floor while another door man has been charged with possessing a flick knife.

Bedfordshire Police has submitted an application to Luton Borough Council requesting that the restaurant stops serving customers between 11pm and 5am.

A report submitted by the force to the authority states the McDonald's branch has the fourth highest crime trend in the town centre and that officers have recorded 47 incident there since October 10 last year.

Door staff had been employed by the restaurant to tackle anti-social behaviour but police officers said they had made 'no positive impact' and had even disappeared from their posts without warning.

Residents have told Luton on Sunday they felt McDonald's was 'unwelcoming' and the town centre was no longer an 'attractive' place to visit.

One resident said she had to leave the restaurant with her four-year-old son because some older children were 'swearing and making noise'.

She added: "We went upstairs and there was a group of kids swearing and talking so loud and my son even said to me, 'mum, he is saying naughty words'."

"It's no longer a social area for people to hang around and it's putting a lot of people off, especially parents with kids."

A McDonald's spokeswoman said: "We are working with the local council and police to tackle anti-social behaviour in and around our George Street restaurant."

"We worked with our SIA accredited security firm to take action against the guards involved in the situations highlighted within this report and to remove them from the restaurant. We are committed to ensuring the restaurant can remain a welcoming environment."

The first glimpse of new Hatters stadium

LUTON Town FC have unveiled a 3D scale model of their proposed new stadium at Power Court.

The model (pictured) was put on display on Friday at the Luton Investment Framework launch at St Pancras in London by 2020 Developments and shows how the new stadium would fit in at the currently derelict site, which is situated near Luton railway station.

It is the most accurate depiction yet of how the new ground would look with the club also announcing their intentions for developments on the land owned by them just off Junction 10 of the M1.

The Hatters announced in December last year that Power Court was their preferred site for a new 17,500-seater home and are hoping for a response to their application by the end of this year.

The club hope that the stadium would be ready in time for the 2020/21 season, which would bring to an end their tenure at Kenilworth Road, where they have played their home games since 1905.

Luton have been actively looking to build a new stadium since 1995.

Shane Putney with Mrs Overton

After a high recommendation from their friends Mr & Mrs Overton of Langford Drive, Luton chose Kingsbourne Windows to replace their old windows and doors.

Mr Overton says "the installation we saw at our friends home was superbly fitted and the cost was realistic for 'A' rated products. Now ours has been completed we would also like to recommend Kingsbourne Windows to all our family and friends".

Marathon task

Running for Sofia

A FATHER whose daughter died just eight hours after being born is taking on the London Marathon for the hospice 'he can't thank enough'.

Colin Moore, 25 (right) from Galston Road, Luton, will be running the marathon next Sunday with his father, also named Colin (left) for Keech Hospice.

Keech offered Colin and his family the chance to spend their final hours together with baby Sofia. The younger Mr Moore said: "I'll cry on numerous occasions but I will finish it in honour of Sofia and my grandad, no matter how painful it gets."

Cloudy2Clear Announce Trusted Trader Partnership

Consumer champions Which? have now joined the thousands of customers who recognise that Cloudy2Clear Windows really are a business that you can TRUST. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has received the coveted 'Which Trusted Trader' status after going through a rigorous accreditation process entirely focussed on customer service.

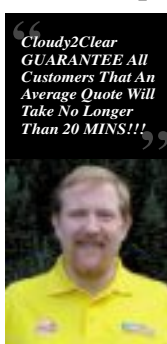

Group Managing Director Marcus McGee believes that Which? have endorsed Cloudy2Clear's long standing company policy of delivering the highest standards possible at all times. 'Our service is simple. If your double glazing has misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Whilst a number of tradespeople perhaps don't focus on customer care as much as they should do, we make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle.

Locally Cloudy2Clear service the Luton, Dunstable & Stevenage areas and manager

Tom Bliss agrees that this approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated as both my customers and, obviously a body as nationally important as Which? now recognise.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Tom a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

WORTH THE WAIT: Roger Haddrell, pictured with the mess last month, said he was 'pleased' with the clean-up. Inset, the area now

About time too: Council finally clears up mountain of junk after four-month wait

COUNCIL workmen have finally cleared a pile of rubbish four months after it was first reported.

On Wednesday morning Luton Borough Council removed mattresses, cardboard boxes and planks of wood dumped on private land in Portland Road.

Businessman Roger Haddrell, who recently took over a shop in the area, first contacted the authority about the fly-tipping in January this year.

However, the council told him it could not clear the items as it was 'liaising' with the land owner.

As the rubbish built up, Mr Haddrell said he got 'fed up' with the lack of action and had been considering spending £280 on a skip.

He added: "I am pleased it has been finally cleared but I just wish there had been more communication before.

"I am hoping that it does not happen again and we do not have the same scenario.

"I'm in talks with some of the residents about putting some metal gates up because this is a private access road."

A council spokesman said it only received reports of the waste at the beginning of February.

He said the land owner had not responded to its clean up requests.

He added: "As this land is privately-owned, the land owners will be pursued for payment of the waste refuse removal."

DOZY PARKERS

Bad corners

STREET corners feature a fair bit in our Dozy Parker section and this week is no different.

This car was found perched on a kerb on the corner of Brendon Avenue and Polzeath Close in Stopsley. The resident who submitted the picture says things are normally worse than this. Let's hope things change.

THIS week's read all over comes from our latest recruit, news editor Katy Hallam.

Katy spent her first morning on the shift catching up with all the previous week's happenings in the town and the surrounding area.

BLOGGER OF THE WEEK: Carl Mungazi

Lessons I will not forget

IN this week's blog Luton on Sunday reporter Carl Mungazi reflects on his time at the paper.

Since joining he has covered a wide variety of issues and spent hours pounding the pavement sniffing out the latest news.

WHEN I joined Luton on Sunday full-time in 2012, I came not knowing much about the town I have called home since 2003.

And on Thursday evening when I left the LoS offices for the last time, I walked out having learnt a lot.

On Wednesday as I was driving home from work and speaking to a contact of mine, she made a remark I feel sums up my experience over the past few years.

She said something to the effect of: "It's only when you begin to really get involved with things around here that you realise how crazy everything really is."

And by crazy she meant that until you make a conscious effort to talk and interact more with those around you, it can be difficult to truly appreciate the environment in which you live. As I mentioned earlier, this was not the case when I first started.

Thankfully, that quickly changed when my editor shoved a notebook and pen into my hands and told me to get out there and not return until I had a story.

Those stories did not come easy at first but once I began developing a genuine interest in what people were doing - or not doing - I found that Lutonians opened up.

I imagine some of you reading this may say, 'mate, that's your job. What else are you supposed to do?'

As a journalist you can sometimes go into situations with stories, headlines and picture captions already pre-written in your mind.

I would like to think I have successfully guarded myself against this by presenting what people have said without giving their words the benefit of my own interpretation. This is something I learnt before I joined LoS with my Interview Luton project in which I was profiling people from the different nationalities represented in the town.

There is something deeply humbling about having someone share intimate, and sometimes painful, details of their life story with you.

It is this approach which has informed my news gathering and led me to talking to people I could have otherwise easily ignored.

But even if I had not ignored them, they were not obliged to talk to me, and that fact leads me to the essence of what I want to say.

Thank you. Simply, thank you. I want to say thank you to all the people who took the time to show me around the town, spent time talking to me and trusted me enough to share their secrets. You have taught me a lot about the town I call home.

■ P.S. During my first couple of years at the paper someone once sent me an envelope packed with faeces and a note about my reporting. I have never worked out which story elicited such a reaction but if you are that person, would you mind putting me out of my misery? Email editor@lsnmedia.co.uk and it will be passed on to me.

Your Luton Letters on sunday

On the bright side

IT is very easy for 'Brexit' fans to stir up patriotic pride and to scare us with fears of immigration, but they are just using emotion as a tool rather than facts and logic.

Martin Gazeley (Letters, LoS, 10.4.16) thinks we don't have 'self determination' but, according to the House of Commons Library, just 13.2 per cent of our laws have anything to do with Brussels, and that includes anything that mentions the EU, even if it's just a passing reference or a definition.

Ron Turvey recycles the same sad clichés about 'invasion' without considering that EU migrants pay far more in taxes than they claim in benefits, contributing £20 billion to the UK over a ten year period.

Why don't they look on the bright side? As a retired Unite shop steward, I welcomed the EU legislation that gave our workers the rights to paid holidays, maternity and paternity leave, protected women's rights in the workplace, and vital anti-discrimination and equal pay laws.

We get lower prices in the shops because it's cheaper to trade and there's more choice.

The EU is the world's largest market with half our exports going there, unhindered by tariffs, barriers, red tape and endless form filling. We sell more to the Netherlands alone than we do to the whole of China.

For every £1 we put into the EU, we get almost £10 back through increased trade, investment, jobs and growth and we get £66 million every day from EU countries investing in of maintenance. L.B.C. like to use Stopsley land to build their structures. Bringing more traffic and over crowding to our once beautiful village. I have sent this picture (left).

Heartbreaking cuts

IT is hugely disappointing to read about planned cuts to IVF funding in Bedfordshire.

It is impossible to overstate the hope that fertility treatment gives couples who have suffered years of heartbreak trying for a child.

The NHS is not a bottomless money-pit but the chance to create life should not depend on having several thousand pounds in the bank. Three free cycles of IVF should be made available to all who need it.

Instead of cutting this vital service, the government and NHS should look at why the treatment is far more expensive here than in many other European countries.

Daft carnival plan

I HEARD BBC Three Counties have caught up with the story about the Luton Carnival which was on your front page a couple of weeks ago.

Pickpocket gang at work outside store

BY NICK SMITH

nick.smith@lutononsunday.co.uk

PICKPOCKETS have been seen in action outside a supermarket, a resident claims.

There are reports of several gangs working in the area around Tesco in Dunstable.

Richard Shaw, of Evelyn Road, Dunstable said: "I narrowly escaped having my pocket picked in Tesco's car park on Easter Monday, and the police say that several gangs are active in this area."

"It was only my friend's alertness to this pair's suspicious behaviour, and her extremely sharp sight, that enabled her to spot what was going on and raise the alarm."

He warned of a gang of three prospective thieves working together to try and pick pockets.

Mr Shaw says he reported the incident to the police, however, the force have said they have no incidents near the Tesco supermarket on record.

A spokesman for Bedfordshire Police said: "We haven't seen a spike in this activity in Dunstable."

"We had three incidents of pickpocketing reported to us in Dunstable during March, however none of these were at Tesco or around the Easter period."

"This behaviour is not acceptable and we would encourage the public to report any incidents to the police on 101."

Tesco did not respond before we went to print.

Road name's royal links

THIS week Howard Chandler looks at some of the oldest names in Luton...

Park Street is one of the older names in Luton. It was given this name as it leads from the town to Luton Hoo's parkland.

In the middle of the 19th century a new street was named Park Street West. At the beginning of the 20th century some houses were built off of Park Street near Brache Farm and a road, nicknamed locally Cabbage Street, then became Park Road West.

This caused confusion, and as more houses were built and the road was extended up to meet West Hill Road, a new name was required. Hurlock Way, possibly the name of a developer, was rejected and a Mr Hill asked tenants and owners for their opinions before suggesting Strathmore Avenue.

This name was inspired by King George VI's coronation in May 1937. His wife, Queen Elizabeth was the daughter of the Earl of Strathmore and her family home was at St Paul's Walden, between Luton and Hitchin.

The council approved the new name in June 1937.

OUT: The new recruit will work in Colin Chick's former department

Authority's £16.5k director bill

A COUNCIL is set to spend more than £16,000 on hiring a new director.

Luton Borough Council wants to hire a new service director for planning and transportation and it has set aside a minimum of £16,500 for the process.

The new director will be working in the department formerly headed by Colin Chick, who left in January this year following his suspension over a verbal abuse allegation.

A document set to be discussed by an appointments panel tomorrow states that the human resources firm Penna has been hired to help with the search.

A council spokesman said: "We are not in a position to comment at this stage as the appointments panel will not make a decision on the matter until April 18."

Gun tip-off leads to cannabis raid

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

SIX people have been arrested on suspicion of cultivating cannabis following a drug bust.

On Tuesday Bedfordshire Police officers were called to a property in Biscot Road, Luton, after receiving reports that a member of the public had spotted a gun.

However, when officers searched the house they found a large amount of cannabis.

A police spokeswoman said: "We were called at approximately 5pm on Tuesday to a property in Biscot Road, Luton, following reports that a firearm had been seen.

"Officers attended, supported by the Bedfordshire, Cambridgeshire and Hertford-

NICKED: Officers were called to the property by a member of the public shire Armed Policing Unit. During a search of the property, officers found a large quantity of cannabis plants. Six people were arrested on suspicion of cultivating cannabis. No firearms were recovered."

Wouldn't it be easier having your prescription medicines delivered direct to your door?

With nothing to lose except those trips to the surgery and to the chemist, it makes sense to register for our NHS repeat prescription service now.

Call us on 01582 591616 or register online at www.birdsfootpharmacy.co.uk

As simple as 1-2-3

Once you have registered with us, you can order your prescription by post, online or by phone.

We phone or e-mail to remind you when your prescription is due and confirm what you would like ordered. If you prefer, simply phone us at any time.

We order the prescription from your surgery and they send it to us electronically.

Our pharmacists dispense your prescription, which is then delivered free to your door by our delivery driver.

No wonder 98% of our customers prefer our services. It goes without saying that we're proud of the service we offer. But most importantly, 98% of our customers say that they find the service far more convenient than getting repeat prescriptions the normal way.

Register today and get your next prescription without leaving home. It's quick and easy to register for repeat prescription deliveries from Birdsfoot Lane Pharmacy.

Call us on 01582 591616 or visit us at www.birdsfootpharmacy.co.uk

As it won't cost you or indeed the NHS a penny more or could save you so much time and effort it makes sense to register today.

SO EASY TO JOIN TODAY – WITH NO COMMITMENT

Whether you choose to join by mail, phone or online, there's absolutely no commitment – you are free to stop using us as any time.

Frequently asked questions

•Who are Birdsfoot Lane Pharmacy?

We are an approved provider of NHS prescription dispensing services. We specialize in the home delivery of medicines and currently serve hundreds of people in Luton.

•Who delivers my medicine?

Your medicines will normally be delivered by our very own drivers.

•Is delivery always free?

Yes it is, what's more, we can deliver to any address – your home, your place of work or to your carer.

•What if I'm out when my delivery arrives?

You can tell us to leave your parcel with a neighbour if you prefer. If not, our delivery driver will leave a card to arrange a redelivery for free.

•Can I switch to Birdsfoot Lane Pharmacy if I already nominated another pharmacy?

Yes. The NHS Electronic Prescription Service is a new way to let patients choose the pharmacy service that best suits their need.

NHS repeat prescriptions have never been easier

We can remind you every time a prescription is due

We receive your prescription electronically from your doctor or collect it from your surgery

We dispense and deliver it free to your door. There's no commitment, you can stop at any time. If you need repeat NHS prescriptions, we've got some very good news for you. All your repeat prescriptions can now be delivered to your home – at no extra cost – so you don't have to brave bad weather, wait for buses, find a spot to park or even rely on someone else for help.

Delivered free to your door

The new NHS Electronic Prescription Service enables doctors to send prescriptions direct to pharmacies like as Birdsfoot Lane. We then take care of all arrangements necessary to get your repeat prescriptions delivered free to your door.

Club brawler 'did not want to fight'

BY COURT REPORTER
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

A CIVIL engineer accused of killing a man with a single punch has told a jury he struck out when he feared he was going to be hit.

Cortney Batchelor, 21, of Paisley Close, Luton, denied Tomas Juska had 'got under his skin' that night by flirting with the barmaid who was the defendant's girlfriend.

Mr Juska, 24, was 'poleaxed' by the single punch to his face outside Club Cookies in August last year.

The Lithuanian man, who worked for Amazon, suffered a lethal brain injury and died the following day, Luton Crown Court has been told.

ACCUSED:
Cortney
Batchelor

Mr Batchelor pleads not guilty to manslaughter, saying he acted in self-defence. On Wednesday he went into the witness box to give his account of what happened in the early hours of August 23 2015.

Mr Batchelor claims Mr Juska came up to him after leaving the nightclub and confronted him. Mr Batchelor said: "I told him I did not want to fight but clearly he was not listening."

"At that stage I thought he was going to hit me."

"I hit him with an upper cut and he went to the floor and I turned around and walked off."

The following day Mr Batchelor was arrested.

The court has heard that neither man had any convictions. Mr Batchelor said he was not drunk, and did not take drugs.

He added: "I did not intend to cause him any harm, I would not have hit him if I didn't think and feel that he was going to hit me first."

The trial continues.

Petition over NHS services

A DENTAL clinic which stopped providing NHS services earlier this month has made a concession following an online petition by its patients.

Leagrave Dental Sedation Clinic (pictured), a private surgery in Dunstable Road, has said it will charge its patients NHS prices for treatment after it lost out on a contract. The petition was signed by 274 patients who said they were concerned about losing the 'continuity of care'.

Practice manager Barbara Patrick said she hoped the concession would help 'reduce the disruption to patient care' and 'reassure the public'.

How would a PCC

OLLY MARTINS LABOUR

The over-riding priority would be to help preserve life and restore calm. Terrorists must not be allowed to win. Communities hit by terror need reassurance and to know that in Bedfordshire we believe in an inclusive society. I am quite clear that prejudice and bigotry aimed at a whole community on the basis of its members' faith is not an appropriate response to extremism - our diverse communities are united in their abhorrence of terrorism.

THE countdown to the May 5 Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC) election has begun. For the next three weeks we will be asking your candidates to respond to a different issue. This week's question: How would you respond if Bedfordshire was hit by a major terrorism incident?

tackle terrorism?

LINDA JACK
LIBERAL DEMOCRATS

I have spent most of my career working with, or on behalf of young people and a priority for me will be to work with the community and youth sector to ensure that young people are not radicalised in the first place. Having worked with the army in Special Intelligence (including on active duty in Northern Ireland) I have skills to work as PCC alongside the Chief Constable, who, of course, would have operational responsibility.

TONI BUGLE
ENGLISH DEMOCRAT

I would back off and allow the police and emergency and security services deal with the matter. I will put my emphasis on prevention. I will ensure the most robust measures are in place at Luton Airport. I will also do all I can to ensure our police force is as effective as possible in eradicating the extremism which has been allowed to fester and grow within certain sections of our local communities.

In any terrorist event, reassuring the public, providing information immediately and regularly updating it as facts became known, would be critical to support an effective rescue and recovery effort. I know this from eight years' experience as an Associate Director at the Cabinet Office's Emergency Planning College. My background means I would be able to give unique support to Bedfordshire's Chief Constable, Jon Boutcher, in terms of public and media communications allowing him to direct the key Gold Command which would be set up to establish the strategic lead for the incident.

Residents call for CCTV clampdown

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

HIGH levels of anti-social behaviour, including cars being set alight and nuisance bikers, has led to calls for more CCTV enforcement.

Residents in Stopsley have asked Luton Borough Council to tackle the problem by installing fixed or mobile cameras in the area.

They are being supported by councillors who said the problem has been 'getting worse' in recent months.

Cllr Michael Dolling, a Liberal Democrat who represents Stopsley, said people were driving cars onto the Common before setting them on fire.

Recently, he said it had happened to six cars.

Cllr Dolling added: "It can be pretty dangerous and we are trying to do something about it by maybe having a camera to recognise the vehicle."

"It might bring people to book."

"We have asked the council to look into the possibility of funding the camera because they are funding them elsewhere where there is anti-social behaviour."

"Stopsley is quite a pleasant place and it is really disturbing people and we would rather stop it before someone gets hurt."

"It has been going on for about six months but it has become worse."

The proposal will be discussed by councillors tomorrow night.

The borough council said it had already installed CCTV at another anti-social behaviour 'hotspot' in Langley Street.

A spokesman said: "If it is agreed that new CCTV should be installed in a specific location the council would obtain a budget cost, source funding and carry out a privacy impact assessment to justify the need of the camera with supporting evidence and consult with the public."

CONCERNED: Councillor Michael Dolling said residents were worried someone could get hurt if no action was taken

Lack of trade freezes ice cream shop

AN ICE cream parlour set up to give families and shoppers an 'alternative place' to visit in the town centre is shutting down due to a lack of customers.

Gelato Heaven, in George Street, will close today less than two years after it first opened its doors.

Owners Sulina and Rishi Bangaroo released a statement on their Facebook page last weekend stating that their business had been a 'great idea' but in the 'wrong location'.

The couple opened their parlour at the end of 2014 after winning the Mall's Retail Factor competition.

At the time Sulina, a legal editor who left her job to run the shop full-time, said there were not enough family-friendly places to go in the town centre.

Customers have left comments online calling the closure 'a shame' and 'a loss' for the town.

Sulina said some of the customers she hoped to attract told her they did not like visiting the town centre.

She added: "They tend to go out of town with their families."

"Unfortunately, Luton is not ready for this type of family-run local business. Maybe it will be in 10 years' time, who knows? It still prefers and attracts chains and brands which people know. It was a great idea, just wrong location."

New lease of life for forgotten plot

THE weeds and stinging nettles have been cleared and in their place are beds ready for sowing.

A team of unemployed volunteers have transformed an overgrown plot of land in Dallow into community allotments.

The previously scruffy patch is located behind All Saints Church, in Shaftsbury Road, and the transformation has been welcomed by the parish's vicar Reverend David Kesterton.

Rev Kesterton said: "We are delighted to have put this land to good use for the benefit of our local community and to bring people together as they grow their own food."

"This shows what can be done when we bring the right partners together to benefit the people who live in our neighbourhood."

The 14 men and women came together for the Green Skills employment course run by local community charity Groundwork Luton & Bedfordshire.

Since mid-February the group has been learning practical skills and putting them to use at the church, situated in Luton's Bury Park.

GET GROWING: The team behind the transformation and left, before and after

From overgrown and unloved to full of promise and ready for planting; NICK SMITH finds out how 14 unemployed men and women turned an eyesore into a fantastic community asset

The site now boasts nine very colourful raised growing beds, a shed, compost bays, a water harvester, and a bark chip surface to stop the working area getting muddy over winter.

The volunteers also installed a fence between the allotments and the church, blocking off a potentially dangerous gap. Christian Iszchak, Groundwork's community project officer, said: "This group really understands the value of volunteering.

"As one of them put it, you have a completely different mentality when you're carrying out hard, physical work for a wage compared to when you're doing it for the benefit of other people; it's far more rewarding.

"I'm glad that, on top of this great feeling, the group have been able to get work experience, qualifications, confidence and new friends out of the project too."

This Green Skills course responsible for the refurbishment was made possible with funding from Luton Adult Learning, Lottery Awards For All, Near Neighbours and Your Say Your Way.

Aliakbar's ready for Cannes

WHEN film director Aliakbar Campwala goes to the world famous Cannes Film Festival next month, he will be achieving one of his life-long dreams.

The Luton-based filmmaker will be attending the screening of Samuel Street, a feature film which looks at the challenges facing modern, conservative middle-class Indians. It follows the lives of a young Indian who returns home after years of living abroad, a mother with strong cultural values who has lived independently throughout her life and a female prison officer in Britain.

Aliakbar said the film was a project he wanted to work on after finishing his Masters in International Cinema.

He said: "I am trying to show a different side of the middle classes and people who live outside India. "It's about the struggle they face when they go back home and how people in the UK perceive people in India."

"There is a struggle with culture shown in my film because culture is very important."

Aliakbar said making a Bollywood style production was not something that appealed to him because he liked doing this that added more 'realism'.

He added: "It is also a very British film at heart with the way it has been done. There are distributors interested in the film so hopefully it will be released later this year."

COMEDY

Fish out of water

FUNMBI Omatayo has made a big splash with his latest show at the Edinburgh Fringe Festival and is now taking it on the road.

'Legal Immigrant' is the story of a 10-year-old Hackney boy, leaving London for Lagos and his struggle to fit in.

It's 1990, Funmbi loves his music and misses his friends.

He's moved to Lagos with his mother and siblings, with his father following a year later on.

In his new home of Nigeria the local kids find his British accent hilarious, and whilst UK culture is changing - the rise of the Spice Girls, Gazza and Blair, all he really wants to know is what's happening to Kylie and Jason in Neighbours.

At 16 he goes back to Hackney, and has to deal with his new fellow students mis-conceptions of Africa, as well as another culture clash; his musical taste has moved on to New Kids On the Block and Boyzone whilst his Hackney classmates are into Public Enemy.

Throughout his formative years, Funmbi says he continually felt he was 'a fish out of water' and this performance looks at that through his own eyes.

He never felt at home in either Lagos or London - until he discovered he had a knack for comedy while working as a porter in Harrods.

It was while he was studying at The Poor School drama college near King's Cross that he first found out he had a gift for stand up.

This five minute set in 2004 at a wine bar down the road from the school was his first taste of the stage and he has been honing his craft ever since.

It's been an amazing 12 months for Funmbi, making a number of appearances on TV as well as earning plaudits for his stage show.

He has appeared on The John Bishop Show (BBC One), The Blame Game (BBC NI), I'm A Celebrity Get Me Out Here Now! (ITV2), and he will be a regular on the brand new show Too Much TV (BBC Two).

He has also collected a number of awards, including winner of the Leicester Square New Act of The Year and winner of The Best Newcomer at The Black Entertainment Comedy Awards.

The show runs from 8pm until 9.45pm with a 20 minute interval.

Tickets cost £10 or £8 for concessions and are available by calling 01582 878100 or visiting lutonculture.com.

MUSIC

Jazz night could be a 're-union'

THE Bear Club hosts another night of international jazz with a local flavour next Saturday.

Focus on Jazz and Confluence are bringing soul singer Noel McKoy to the town to perform alongside Luton-based singer Cheryl Lucas, his supporting act on the night.

Noel's musical career has seen him record, perform and tour the world with many of the greatest names in music such as Kool & the Gang, Gladys Knight and Stevie Wonder.

Cheryl has also performed all over the world, including two royal weddings as well as the wedding ceremony for Wayne and Colleen Rooney.

Both artists used to sing together and Cheryl said she hoped the gig would be a bit of a re-union.

She said: "I used to be in a function band with Noel a couple of years ago and the band was called Diva."

"We travelled around the world and did soul, old schools and lots of stuff that we liked."

"It'll be like a bit of a re-union and it will be good to see him and all the guys from the band."

"It's nice to do something locally; there's not many live music venues around."

Tickets for the event cost £18.

THEATRE

An American love story in East Anglia

SOMEWHERE
 HAT FACTORY
 MAY 17

THE influence of American soldiers on rural East Anglia takes centre stage on a production coming to the Hat Factory next month.

Theatre company Eastern Angles will be presenting what they have billed as a 'fascinating' and 'moving' new look into how society reacted when they received an influx of new residents.

In May 1942, the first Eighth U.S. Army Air Force planes arrived in East Anglia and with them came thousands of black and white American GIs who, in some places, outnumbered the local population by 50 to 1.

The production is part of the Heritage Lottery funded Eighth in The East project, which is a programme of activities using theatre, archaeology, photography, oral testimony and documentation to highlight this period in East Anglia's history.

Polly Wiseman, who wrote the piece, said she wanted to ensure the social dynamics of this period were not forgotten.

In her notes, she wrote: "During my research, the first glaring irony was that whilst America fought fascism in Germany, it practised segregation."

"Ask black men to fight for a country that's denying them their basic freedoms? Really?"

"This was offset by more heartening accounts of the acceptance of the black GIs as equals by East Anglians."

"I began to feel proud of Britain's comparative colourblindness."

Polly said the issue of interracial relationships came to the fore when the Women's Voluntary Service began discouraging girls from socialising with black soldiers and mixed-race babies were described as an 'epidemic' in Parliament.

She added: "When sex reared its head - as it was bound to, in areas full of displaced young people who thought they might die tomorrow - Britons became less tolerant. I knew then that my story would be a romance between a black GI and a white British woman."

"But shockingly, there were almost no first-hand accounts available - from the men themselves, or the women who loved them."

"It began to seem as if Britain would rather forget them, which made me want to tell their stories even more."

Polly, who has experienced racism herself when with her husband, said the play shows how people can challenge discrimination.

She said: "When writing a historical play, I always ask myself, what has this story got to say about today? Well, if I can walk in to a modern pub with my Asian husband and attract racist comments, there's clearly still some opposition to interracial relationships."

"My play explores how ordinary people can challenge discrimination and change things for the better."

What's hot in Luton

A ballet version of the heart-warming tale The Princess and the Frog is coming to Luton Library Theatre on 29-30 April. The show is suitable for 2-9 year olds and their families. This beautiful original ballet by Let's All Dance aims to charm audiences both young and old, exploring the theme of friendship. Performances are on Friday April 29 at 10.30am & 1.30pm and on Saturday April 30 at 11.30am. Tickets are £8 each or £24 for four and available on 01582 878100.

ON April 30 the Grove Theatre presents its annual opera of Puccini's Tosca: An explosion of love and treachery. The traditional production is billed as a 'heady mixture of true love, torture and treachery'. It is set against the backdrop of Rome with costumes and a boys choir. Tickets cost £30.50.

THE critically acclaimed show Essence of Ireland takes on a new lease of theatrical life with Ireland's Call at The Grove Theatre, Dunstable. Sean Dempsey goes off in search of a better life in the Big Apple. Tickets are £23.50 and available by calling the box office on 01582 602080.

Find David Bailey's in the lounge

PHOTOGRAPHY fans with deep pockets will find themselves at home in this luxury apartment block with its own art gallery stocked with original pictures created by legendary celebrity snapper David Bailey.

Fresh from recording the nuptials of Rupert Murdoch and Jerry Hall, he was commissioned by the block's developers to take photographs of the local area for each apartment as well as 19 large artworks which are on show in the 'lobby gallery'.

The swanky block has 44 super-luxury residences with prices starting at £3.8m and has so many amenities on tap that you wouldn't often need to venture out. Owners at The Chilterns get a restaurant, gym and sauna, private cinema and wine cellars with wine tasting room in the block. There's also underground parking and 24-hour concierge.

Near Marylebone High Street, the apartment building fronts onto Chiltern Street, famous for its Chiltern Firehouse Hotel & Restaurant, trendy bars and boutique designer stores.

One furnished three-bedroom property has now been put up for sale at £7.7m, with 10 specially commissioned framed Bailey prints featuring Regency architecture, the BBC HQ, Baker Street Underground Station, Regent's Park and the boating lake.

With lots of floor to ceiling windows throughout, it's full of luxurious touches such as state-of-the-art comfort air cooling and warming system, under-floor warming, bespoke fitted wardrobes, rooftop terraces and glass-fronted balconies.

The master bedroom suite has a walk-in dressing area and marble master bathroom while the kitchen/breakfast room has special folding timber panels, which can be closed to hide the units and work spaces.

Scene of Hitchcock housing drama

MASTER of suspense Alfred Hitchcock got his first shot at directing in 1922 with the film Number 13 about a rather topical subject: low income Londoners and their struggle to survive. Rather fittingly, the production went bust and was never finished.

This and many of his early films were shot at Gainsborough Studios which, in their film-production heyday, served as everything from mad professor's laboratory to railway station, to 19th century manor house to mermaid's lair.

Hitchcock shot his first suspense thriller, The Lodger, there, as well as his 1926 masterpiece, The Lady Vanishes. However, at the start of the Second World War, the building's huge chimney was deemed a liability during air raids, and the studio was sold in 1949.

After starting life as a power station, then going into the movie business, the building in London's Hoxton has also been used as a whisky store, housed theatre productions, a boxing scene in Guy Ritchie's film Snatch and a fashion show by Alexander McQueen.

Much of it was demolished in 2002 and flats were built on the site, but as a nod to its cinematic past, you'll find a huge sculpture of Hitchcock's head in the centre of Gainsborough Studios' four apartment blocks.

Boasting canal views, a one-bedroom flat has just come on the market there for £575,000. It's got a large reception room with semi-open-plan kitchen, bedroom with fitted wardrobe and wooden flooring.

The development has its own gym, convenience store and canal side café, secure underground parking, a concierge and CCTV cameras throughout.

Would this be a stable investment?

If you're a big horse racing fan then you'll know trainer Terry Mills enjoyed big-race successes including the conquest of Where or When over Hawk Wing in the Queen Elizabeth II Stakes in 2002, or Bobzoo in the 1994 Hardwicke Stakes, Mitcham in the 1999 King's Stand Stakes and Norton in the 2002 Royal Hunt Cup at Royal Ascot.

His family have owned Loretta Lodge for the last 30 years, with son Robert taking over the yard in 2010. But unlike his late father, he hasn't sent out the same calibre of winners and has now put the world class racing yard up for sale.

Less than two miles from Epsom Downs racecourse – best known for the world famous Derby – for any gamblers who've had a really big win of late, at £4.27m it could be worth a punt.

Loretta Lodge comprises a detached three-bedroom house with double garage and indoor swimming pool. The centre comes with newly refurbished four-bedroom trainer's house, along with staff accommodation.

For the four legged residents, the stable yard is around a large courtyard with 47 horse boxes, tack room and feed room, hay/storage barn, rug room and drying room along with an owner's lounge. There's also two isolation yards, equine pool and loading ramp, a five-furlong all-weather circular and straight uphill gallops, along with 45 acres of pasture.

Louise Harrison at agent Savills said: "Although this is a fully comprehensive world class racing facility, the extensive features on offer could just as easily appeal to other equestrian disciplines including show jumping, eventing and dressage."

Fab four fan buys a Starr home

BEATLES fanatic Jackie Homes has added Ringo Starr's childhood home to her growing property portfolio.

She's already bagged George Harrison's childhood home and John Lennon's mum's house, and paid £70,000 for the drummer's mid-terrace house in Admiral Grove, Liverpool, where young Ringo – then Richard Starkey – learnt to play the drums.

The modest Victorian property, which he called home until he was 21, had a guide price of £55,000 and even had pre-auction interest from the USA, before the sale in Liverpool's legendary Cavern Club.

Homes bought John Lennon's mum Julia's home in Blomfield Road for £155,000 a couple of years ago; although he lived nearby in Allerton, Liverpool, with Aunt Mimi, the Beatle was a regular visitor to the house.

And she's also previously snapped up George Harrison's former home at 26 Upton Green, in Speke, for £156,000.

Unfortunately, Homes hasn't got the set as last year, Sir Paul McCartney's childhood home at 72 Western Avenue, Speke, was bought for £150,000 by a local mystery buyer. She plans to rent out Ringo and George's childhood homes, but will soon move from London to Liverpool to live in Julia Lennon's former house.

Ringo's childhood home still attracts fans daily as it's part of the official Beatles Tour. Former tenant Margaret Gorse who died last year, had lived there for 37 years and used to invite people inside to take a look.

Meanwhile, his birthplace at 9 Madryn Street in the city was at risk of being demolished but now looks likely to be refurbished as part of a new development.

Entire village with £20m price tag

ARE you a philanthropic multi-millionaire with a love of the countryside who's itching to find a house ripe for renovation?

If you are then West Heslerton estate might be just the ticket. It's for sale at £20 million and includes 2,116 acres of agricultural land, a 21-bedroom hall in need of renovation as well as 43 houses, a pub, petrol station and playing fields.

Until recently the estate was owned by Eve Dawnay who died without a direct heir five years ago. So now her surviving family have decided to put it up for sale and according to agent Tom Watson of Cundalls, which is selling the estate near Malton in North Yorkshire, it comes with an annual income of £388,000.

Miss Dawnay was well-known locally because she charged very low rents to all the estate's residents and also made very few changes to the estate, including the main hall which she moved out of over thirty years ago to downsize to a smaller property within the village.

But this low-cost and bucolic existence is unlikely to continue under a new owner, Tom Cundall admits.

"There can be no denying that the estate is going to be very attractive to developers and investors and there are now endless opportunities [here] be it to convert buildings, develop plots or commercial opportunities," he says.

"But I know that in an ideal world Miss Dawnay's family would really like to see the estate carry on in a similar vein."

Cundalls, 01653 697 820.

KS2 Class Teacher / English Leader – MPS/UPR + TLR2C

2 x Class Teachers – MPS/UPR
(Our school has an excellent track record of supporting NQTs)

Sundon Park Junior School is an improving school with big ambitions on the border with Central Bedfordshire. Our staff are an extremely hard working team who support each other to ensure our pupils have the best learning experience possible. We are proud of the fact that all visitors comment on the calm, relaxed atmosphere as well as the good behaviour of our pupils, this was reflected in our latest Ofsted report in March 2016:

*The behaviour of pupils is good.
The curriculum motivates pupils who told inspectors that learning was enjoyable and interesting.
Pupils respect the views of others.
Pupils of all backgrounds get on well together.
Pupils enjoy working hard and trying their best.*

Please do not take our word for this, come and visit us and experience it first-hand.

Please telephone Carol Outlaw on 01582 571619 to arrange a tour of the school, or visit our school website www.sundonpark.luton.sch.uk for further information and an application pack.

● QUALITY LEAD OFFICER

£22,478 to £24,931 per annumFull time; 37 hours per week

We require a talented team player, able to actively support operational evaluation of all aspects of our service delivery.

A prior background in learning and development will be a key requirement of this role along with a willingness to embrace the challenge of evidencing the impact of our work through a range of activity. Great communication and reporting skills are a must, along with a high level of accuracy.

Responsible for embedding evaluation in all processes, gathering data, interviewing trainers and end users for evidence of impact and providing summary reporting on a regular basis to inform on progress and service quality.

There is a requirement to drive in order to undertake this role.

We have exciting opportunities to lead on the future development of the Pan Bedfordshire LSCB Training Unit, hosted by Central Bedfordshire Council.

● LSCB TRAINING OFFICER

£31,208 to £34,050 per annumFull time; 37 hours per week

Leading a small team, you will be responsible to the local safeguarding children boards of the three authorities to implement the agreed training strategy in support of multi-agency learning needs across Bedfordshire. You will be required to report regularly on activity and attend meetings relevant to your role.

You will plan and commission a programme of learning and manage the support team to deliver on all related activity including administrative functions and evaluation processes in support.

There is a requirement to drive in order to undertake this role.

● LSCB TRAINING ASSISTANT

£22,478 to £24,931 per annumFull time; 37 hours per week

You will provide support to the Training Officer in the development of the service, and will be required to give advice and guidance to those wishing to access multi-agency learning activity.

You will be responsible for quality assurance, manage the performance of externally commissioned trainers and coordinate validation panels to approve single partner agency training packages as required. You will manage the process of evaluation including organisational impact and provide data for reporting purposes.

There is a requirement to drive in order to undertake this role.

For both roles you will probably have a background in training and may be employed in the Children's Workforce undertaking a role that enables you to be conversant with the role of Local Safeguarding Boards and the requirements of practitioners to keep children safe.

● LSCB TRAINING ADMIN ASSISTANT

You will work with other team members to provide a high quality customer experience.

Your administrative responsibilities within the LSCB joint training unit will include administration of the CPD online, bookings, reporting and supporting the promotion of courses. You will be able to manage telephone calls and email enquiries requiring low level advice on course suitability. Ideally you will have a background in customer support and an awareness of database administration. Your communication and accuracy skills will need to be of a very high standard to enable you to provide the very best level of support for the service.

For an informal discussion about any of these positions, please contact: Debbie Crawford on 0300 300 4879 or email Debbie.crawford@centralbedfordshire.gov.uk

Manshead School

Dunstable Road, Caddington, Beds. LU1 4BB
Number on Roll: 1200 (with 270 in Sixth Form)
Headteacher: Jim Parker

We are a 11-19 Secondary School situated on an attractive site just south of Dunstable.

We are currently recruiting for the roles below:

TEACHING ASSISTANT (INCLUSION)

£9,796 - £10,457 p.a.

Vacancy ID: 104576

27.5 hours per week, term-time only

We have a vacancy for a teaching assistant in our Inclusion team with immediate effect. The position involves working with students who have a varied spectrum of Special Educational Needs (SEN) and/or Pastoral issues within a classroom setting or small groups. It is desirable, but not essential, for you to have experience of working in a SEN setting, particularly in a mainstream school. It would be useful if candidates are able to speak additional languages, but not essential, in order to work with EAL students.

HEAD OF AUTISM SPECTRUM DISORDER (ADS UNIT)

£22,792 - £24,918 p.a.

Vacancy ID: 104577

37 hours per week, term-time, plus 5 days

We are seeking to appoint a Head of our Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) Unit. The ASD Unit has a capacity for 12 students. Under the guidance of the Assistant Head (Behaviour/Inclusion/SENCO) the Head of the ASD Unit will lead a team of TAs with the work of the provision, providing an excellent standard of education for the students and giving them the opportunity to maximise their access to the mainstream curriculum.

We are seeking someone with the knowledge, skills and experience of working with students who have ASD and who is familiar with the National Curriculum at Key stage 3 and 4. Ideally we are seeking to appoint someone who is qualified or willing to train in the TEACCH approach.

TEACHER OF GEOGRAPHY

MPR/UPR

Vacancy ID: 104578

Full time

We are looking for an innovative teacher to join a supportive and forward looking department that has seen continuing improvement in the last year. This is an exciting opportunity at an improving 11-18 Church of England school that is committed to improving outcomes.

We offer the following benefits:

- a comprehensive induction programme and a supportive working environment
- opportunity to teach students in a Sixth Form
- excellent transport links via the M1 and national rail networks
- outstanding lifestyle opportunities on the edge of the Chiltern Hills with affordable urban or country living in a variety of market towns or villages.

We welcome visits from prospective staff. If you would like an informal conversation about the post or would like to visit before applying please contact Stuart Moore, Deputy Headteacher.

For further details and an application form please visit our website www.mansheadschool.co.uk or alternatively telephone 01582 679409 or email office@mansheadschool.co.uk

Closing Date for all Roles: 25th April 2016

Interviews will be held within 10 days of the closing date

Manshead is committed to the safeguarding and promotion of children's welfare and all job offers are subject to satisfactory Criminal Records Bureau clearance.

Class Teachers*For EYFS, KS1 & KS2
MPR/UPR
Full time

Vacancy ID: 104533

For September 2016

Looking for a new challenge in an expanding school where you can really make a difference?

We are looking for:

- excellent classroom practice
- high expectations of pupil achievement and behaviour
- a passion to be part of the 'Surrey Street Family'.

Look at our website to see what we mean!

We are a friendly, inclusive school. OFSTED (January 2015) said:

- the school is a happy one where pupils from many different cultures and backgrounds work and play together in harmony
- pupils have positive attitudes to learning, behave well and feel safe
- the Early Years provides a stimulating environment with good teaching so that children settle quickly and flourish
- the curriculum gives pupils a varied range of experiences that contribute strongly to their spiritual, moral, social and cultural development.

Our playground has to be seen to be believed! Visits to the school are encouraged.

Please phone Miss Cook on 01582 748813 to make an appointment.

Please visit our website www.surreystreetprimary.com to download an application form or email pa@surreystreetprimary.net.

THE BOROUGH OF LUTON (VARIOUS ROADS)(TEMPORARY ROAD CLOSURES)
(RESURFACING WORKS) (NO.3) ORDER 2016

NOTICE is hereby given that Luton Borough Council, the Highway Authority for the said Borough, intends to make the above Order under the relevant provisions of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 (as amended).

The Order will come into operation on 10th May 2016 for a period of 18 months or when the proposed works have been completed. Specific times and dates will be signed locally. The Order will therefore be in operation when signs are displayed.

The effect of the Order will allow the Council to temporarily close to traffic the roads and lengths of roads in the Schedule below. The Order is intended to create a window for the works to be done and it is anticipated that the works will be completed over a period within the dates described in the Schedule below unless such works are delayed due to unforeseen circumstances.

The Order will also provide for "No Waiting" restrictions to apply in each road for the period of the closure. This will be in force when signed cones are displayed.

The purpose of the Order is to enable carriageway resurfacing and surface treatment works to be carried out.

Access will be maintained as best as possible to properties where this may be done safely and diversions for traffic will be marked by signs.

MOTORINGNEWS

Redefining the SUV sector

THE first versions of the dynamic new Tiguan SUV have opened for order.

Designed and engineered to redefine the compact SUV segment the new model introduces class-leading levels of interior space, practicality and safety while also debuting cutting-edge technology and connectivity.

The Tiguan brings previously unseen levels of quality and refinement to its sector with a premium look that belie its price.

The first new Volkswagen SUV to sit on the innovative and flexible MQB platform – which also underpins the Volkswagen Golf – the new car signals the start of a comprehensive SUV offensive which will see the brand represented in all core SUV segments over time.

By virtue of its cutting edge MQB underpinnings the new Tiguan debuts exceptional levels of safety and connectivity.

Standard from entry will be a raft of safety features such as Front Assist, City Emergency Braking and Pedestrian Monitoring, while hi-tech features available for the first time in a Tiguan include Active Info Display, Head-Up Display, Area View and Trailer Assist.

Perfectly proportioned, and shaped to develop the character of the original best-selling Tiguan, the new car balances clean lines with a powerful, dynamic stance.

With a 33mm reduction in height versus the outgoing car to 1,632mm, and a 30mm growth in width to 1,839mm, the model now exhibits an even more sleek, confident shape. At 4,486mm in length it is also 60mm longer than its predecessor. The wheelbase has been significantly extended to 2,681mm – a gain of 77mm. At the front, in particular, the unit formed by the radiator grille and optional LED projection headlights reinforces the car's powerful impression.

The SUV design is taken up consistently inside too. The cockpit, for example, is now aligned towards the driver for better comfort and without constricting the airy impression. At the same time, the wider centre console typical of SUVs is paired with the new 4MOTION Active Control rotary switch to create a defining interior element with a premium feel. The extended engine range gives customers the greatest possible choice for power, style and comfort. A broad line-up has been created to appeal to the widest possible customer base.

The UK range will be badged using Volkswagen's familiar S, SE, SE Navigation, SEL and R-Line designations, with diesel engines expected to account for around 95 per cent of sales.

The range is expected to be priced from around £22,500 when all versions are available,

Range Rover Evoque

Take a look inside. . .

The Range Rover Evoque has been given a thorough once-over. It still looks much as before with only a few nips and tucks, but almost all the money has been spent under that very pretty skin.

Efficiency improves with a new family of diesel engines and there's some exciting equipment choices also on offer. It's still the one the rest are aiming at.

It's a brave new world at Land Rover right now. The Freelander's gone and the Discovery Sport has appeared, but the big news might well be the development of the Ingenium engines that look to put the company on a similar efficiency footing as the best of the Germans and Japanese.

The Evoque gets the aluminium Ingenium diesel engine. This TD4 unit is 20-30kg lighter than its predecessor and delivers low levels of vibration and noise intrusion. It's offered to Evoque customers in two states of tune: 150PS in the economy-oriented eD4 front-wheel drive model, and 180PS if you prefer a bit more poke and can't do without all-wheel drive.

Should you want to go faster still, you can buy the Evoque with the punchy 240PS Si4 petrol engine. The nine-speed ZF transmission is available and it's an option you really need to tick. It shifts between gears so quickly that ZF reckons it's 'below the threshold of perception'.

An adaptive shift programme quickly matches the driving style and includes a memory function. A Torque Vectoring by Braking feature further enhances agility and safety by redirecting torque to counteract understeer.

Off-road ability is enhanced with the fitment of All-Terrain Progress Control. This function maintains a pre-determined speed - selected using the cruise control function - in forward or reverse gears between 1.1mph and 19mph, allowing the driver to concentrate on negotiating tricky terrain.

The changes continue inside with updated seats and higher-quality soft-touch materials used for the door casings. The instrument binnacle has also been redesigned. Buyers still choose between three and five-door models, the key difference between the amount of room in the back.

Land Rover has concentrated on substance over style. In doing so, the brand has future-proofed its biggest money-spinner.

Golf GTI Clubsport Edition 40 Is Here

'Iconic' is, perhaps, a word bandied around all too freely but, when applied to the mould-breaking Golf GTI, it can be used with genuine justification. The car that popularised the 'hot hatch' phenomenon is 40 years old in 2016 and, to mark the occasion, Volkswagen has created the most potent iteration of the GTI to date. Available to order in Volkswagen UK Retailers now, the specially commissioned Golf GTI Clubsport Edition 40 celebrates four decades of a true automotive icon. Powering this addition to the GTI range is a 2.0-litre turbocharged direct-injection engine that delivers 265 PS, making it the most powerful Golf GTI yet.

Dacia Unveils Value-Enhancing Special Editions

Dacia has introduced the new Ambiance Prime special edition across its Sandero, Duster and Logan MCV model ranges, starting from £7,295, offering cost-conscious drivers something extra in every sense. Building on the popular Ambiance specification, the new special edition includes additional exterior equipment that when bought collectively adds up to £1,190 – all for a price premium of only £500 over the Ambiance trim and reinforcing Dacia's 'shockingly affordable' approach to motoring. The arrival of the Ambiance Prime special edition comes at a time when more drivers than ever are opting for the no-nonsense brand, Dacia having recently celebrated its third consecutive year of growth in the UK and selling over 3.5 million cars since relaunching across Europe.

THE NEW AUDI A3 – STILL AHEAD OF THE CURVE

The Audi A3 is accelerating to catch up with the Vorsprung durch Technik brand's latest technological developments – a new, even more sharply styled A3 featuring new engines and accommodating the latest driver assistance and infotainment advances, including the standard-fit Audi smartphone interface and the optional fully digital Audi virtual cockpit, becomes available to order in May. The first three-door, five-door Sportback, Saloon and Cabriolet versions, headed by their respective S3 flagships, will arrive with UK customers from late summer. The plug-in hybrid A3 Sportback e-tron with its 176mpg capability and 37g/km CO2 output will also make its debut in updated form later this year

UNBEATABLE APRIL OFFERS ON NEARLY-NEW NISSANS AT Glyn Hopkin

Glyn Hopkin, one of the UK's largest Nissan dealer groups, has today announced a major 'Used Car Event', with significant offers available for a limited time across the entire range of nearly new Nissan vehicles.

As part of the used car Nissan CARED4 promise, Glyn Hopkin is offering customers a substantial deposit contribution of £500, plus two years' free vehicle servicing and two years' roadside assistance. The offers come as part of all Nissan Finance deals, which are available at an impressive 9.9% APR.

The event extends throughout Glyn Hopkin's Nissan network – now comprising more than 13 showrooms across the South East.

- £500 deposit contribution, plus two years' free servicing and roadside assistance
- Offers available only to the end of April
- Event taking place across Glyn Hopkin's 13 Nissan showrooms

The Glyn Hopkin group, which rose 26 places in the Sunday Times Top Track 250 last year, has always offered competitive finance packages as part of its ongoing commitment to customer satisfaction and value for money.

Glyn Hopkin Nissan's used car event will continue until the end of April.

To find out about the full range of finance deals at Glyn Hopkin across its full range of car brands, or to find out more about the Nissan CARED4 promise, visit www.glynhopkin.com.

Bentley Launches New GT Speed And Striking Black Edition

Bentley unveils today the revised Continental GT Speed, raising the bar even further in terms of exclusivity and performance. The fastest production Bentley ever, with a top speed of 206 mph (331 km/h), now delivers even more power and torque, and a striking new Black Edition model joins the Speed family. Engineers at Bentley in Crewe have developed even more muscle from the Continental's iconic 6.0-litre twin-turbocharged W12 engine. As a result, the 0-60 mph sprint time has dropped to just 3.9 seconds (0-100 km/h in 4.1 secs). Bentley is also introducing the Continental GT Speed Black Edition which celebrates the rich and striking depth of the GT's sporting character. Available as both coupe and convertible bodystyles, the customers' choice of body colour is complimented by a high gloss black finish to the exterior brightware, including the window openings and lamp bezels. All-black 21" five-spoke directional wheels cover distinctive brake calipers, which can be specified in red or black finishes.

Vauxhall Takes Personalisation To The Next Level

Vauxhall has updated its popular ADAM range further with the introduction of UNLIMITED and ROCKS UNLIMITED trim variants. Incorporating options from the existing JAM, GLAM and SLAM models, the new variants will provide drivers with more personalisation options than ever before. The two ADAM models allow the customer to personalise their model from all existing exterior and roof colours, wheel sizes and styles, interior trims and foils plus technology options. Available from £12,260 on-the-road, the ADAM UNLIMITED offers generous levels of standard equipment, including 16-inch Titan triple cross alloy wheels, daytime running lights, cruise control, climate control and Bluetooth connectivity.

One Car Sold Every Two Minutes

Jaguar Land Rover, the UK's leading manufacturer of premium luxury vehicles, has reported its best ever UK monthly retail sales of 25,127 vehicles, up 16% on March 2015. One Jaguar Land Rover vehicle was sold in the UK every 2 minutes over the last month. In the first three months of 2016, the company sold 35,444 vehicles, up by nearly a quarter (23%) on the same period last year. Marking its best monthly sales yet, Land Rover retailed 19,472 vehicles in March, up 9% year-on-year, and sold one vehicle roughly every 2 minutes. Jaguar had its best UK performance in over a decade, delivering 5,655 vehicles, up 45% on the previous March, and sold one vehicle roughly every 8 minutes.

Wintry start to the cricketing summer

WASHED AWAY: A wet outfield prevented Ben Duckett from reaching 300

CRICKET is England's national summer sport, but that particular season feels very far away, despite the fact the new County Championship campaign got underway last weekend.

Those who watch the game's four-day format are made up of the most committed supporters and you will have needed to be pretty damn hardy to want to sit in the cold for hours on end.

It's true that cricket is in the lap of the gods when it comes to the weather over here than in any other country, but having the season start so soon after winter finishes is surely pushing its luck.

Next year, the amount of Championship fixtures is being reduced from 18 to 16 games and you can only hope that this means the start of the campaign will be pushed back to later in April.

Thoughts went out to Worcestershire and Kent, who saw all four days of their match at New Road abandoned without a ball being bowled.

It also saw the final two days of Northamptonshire and Sussex washed out due to a sodden outfield at Wantage Road, thus preventing the hosts' Ben Duckett from having the chance to complete an amazing triple century.

But it was the first day in particular that left me questioning why on earth the season opens so early, as the press box at that ground is usually colder than it is outdoors.

That's fine during a rare heat wave, but at the start of April it means that more warmth can probably be found inside a butcher's freezer.

You look forward to the cricket season starting but then you don't because the weather is usually so bad you're too cold to really enjoy it and you waste several hours waiting for the day's play to inevitably be called off.

If Duckett hadn't have produced that sensational 282 not out – the highest individual score I've been privileged to witness – I would have possibly had more reasons to grumble, but at least I know there is better to come.

It also made me thankful the minor counties don't make the same mistake and hopefully it will have warmed up by the time Bedfordshire play their first game of the campaign against Suffolk at Amptihill next Sunday.

■ It may not have the characters of yesteryear, but the World Snooker Championship has always been an event in the sporting calendar I've looked forward to (the editor of one of our sister titles plays it down as 'not a real sport,' the philistine).

The appeal for me is how the players always seem to plan two or three shots ahead from the one they're about to take, possibly the hardest skill of all to master.

If it makes me odd that I also enjoy watching a good, drawn-out tactical frame as much as a blink-and-you-miss-it clearance by Ronnie O'Sullivan, then so be it.

Victory on home turf for Stockwood

RUGBY UNION

STOCKWOOD Park secured promotion from Midlands 3 East (South) this weekend with a 33-0 home win against Daventry.

The victory was the 11th time that the Park have secured a four-try bonus-point win this season, five more than third-placed Long Buckby have achieved, who eventually finished the season four points behind Stockwood in the league table.

"It just goes to show how important bonus-point wins are", said Stockwood Park's John Humphries, "when we get hold of the ball we like to run it around – which we did today, it was a very stylish performance and resulted in another four-try win, and another bonus point for us".

Alex Lovell got the Park up and running with their first try of the afternoon, before Steve Pollock added a penalty to make it 8-0. Ieuan Beale and Martin Rowe both crossed the whitewash before the interval to give Stockwood an 18-0 lead at the turnaround.

James Hankey added Park's fourth minutes into the second half, converted by Pollock, prior to Beale adding his second, and Park's fifth, of the afternoon. Pollock slapped a penalty through the posts to conclude the afternoon's scoring and cue the celebrations and the popping of champagne corks.

"Michael Powell was our man of the match, he was absolutely outstanding as he's been all year, and of course our season is far from over", said Humphries.

"We have Dunstablians still to face in the Bedfordshire cup final next weekend at our place, it's the third time we've played them at this stage in as many seasons, we've beaten them on both our previous meetings, just as we've beaten them twice in the league this year – but that said, it's a cup final, so league form goes out the window on a one-off occasion like this. It will be an excellent encounter between us as they always are".

Also in Midlands 3 East (South) Dunstablians closed their league campaign with a 34-15 defeat on the road at Stewarts & Lloyds, a loss that sees them finish the season fifth in the division sixteen points behind second-place Stockwood Park.

In London 1 North Luton lost 43-8 on the road at Harrow yesterday afternoon, their 23rd defeat in a season that has yielded just a single, solitary, win – the 18-15 victory that was actually secured back in December against this week-end's opponents, Harrow.

Luton have two league games left in a season they, surely, can't wait to see the back of.

Blues hammered by champions Poole

FOOTBALL

DUNSTABLE Town fell to a 3-0 defeat yesterday away to Poole Town, which saw the hosts crowned champions of the Evo Stik Southern League Premier Division.

The game saw Dunstable finish the game with nine men as Poole cantered to the title.

Things got off to the perfect start for the hosts, with Marvin Brooks netting the opener after three minutes, which set the trend for much of the rest of the match.

The visitors held out for the rest of the second half but Brooks added his second with a low shot from inside the six yard box.

The hosts kept pressuring and forced winger David Keenleyside into making a save on the line, which saw him get his marching orders.

However, Bart Pedrycz stepped up to save Steve Devlin's spot kick.

Pedrycz soon undid his good work as he conceded another penalty and was shown a red card for the foul.

Brooks stepped up to take the penalty and made no mistake from 12 yards.

In the Evo Stik Southern League Division One Central, Barton Rovers won 3-2 at St Ives Town, while AFC Dunstable won 3-1 on Friday evening against Herford Town in the Spartan South Midlands Premier Division.

FOOTBALL

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE

sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

NATHAN Jones called on Luton fans to trust him over new signings after loan man Joe Pigott finally broke his duck to beat Oxford 3-2 and see the Hatters come from behind to win a league game for the first time in two years.

The striker, who joined in January until the end of the season from Charlton, had been booed onto the pitch by a minority of fans in the mid-week win over Dagenham and then missed a glut of chances, but he started against United – his 11th appearance.

Town suffered a second minute setback, through Danny Hylton's opener, but on the stroke of half time, Pigott levelled from close range after a goal-keeping gaffer by Benji Büchel.

Olly Lee then scored in first half stoppage time to hand the Hatters a lead, but while the Yellowbells levelled soon after the break, Pigott produced a sumptuous finish to seal it.

"Joe Pigott was clinical. I've kept faith with him and he's responded. The kid has shown some wonderful character and I'm proud of him," said manager Jones (pictured).

"He did need a first goal, but it doesn't help with a lot of negativity surrounding it because he's a good young player and I need the fans to trust me that, when we bring a player, in it won't be someone that ends up costing us money in the long-run. It won't be someone that we can't play, can't use or proves to be ridiculous. It won't be that.

"We bring in value here. We bring in young quality. We bring in quality, whether it's young or old, so just bear with us. Just trust us."

Pigott is one of four loan players Jones has brought in since becoming Luton manager in January, alongside Alan Sheehan, Glen Rea and Jonathan Mitchell, though the goalkeeper was recalled by parent club Derby.

Jones said: "I haven't brought in anyone here that has weakened our squad. The four I've brought in have been outstanding players, I feel."

"We haven't seen the best of Joe but he's kept plugging away and young players sometimes need that. He's inexperienced but he has ability that he showed today in his finishing. He led the line against a very good Oxford side."

"When he's confident, when he gets a run of games, he's a top finisher."

"He's one of the best I've worked with."

"If I've brought him in I need you [media] to trust me, I need the fans to trust me."

Hatters end week on high

FOOTBALL

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE
sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

OXFORD UNITED 2
LUTON TOWN 3

A PIECE of history, new stadium plans, maiden goals and fresh hope – what a week it has been for the future of Luton Town Football Club.

Hatters fans would have been fearing the worst when Danny Hylton put Oxford ahead within two minutes because their team, for two years, had not won after conceding the first goal – April 21, 2014 to be precise and that was back in the Conference.

Here, against a promotion-chasing side, that monkey on their back was gloriously removed with two goals in four late first half minutes and then, more decisively with Joe Pigott's sublime 58th minute winner.

Like buses, you wait for ages and then two turn up at once. The striker's spell on loan from Charlton since January had not been one to remember – until this double.

He broke his duck when United keeper Benji Büchel made a hash of a backpass and the forward was on hand to turn in quick-thinking Josh McQuoid's centre. They'd deserved something after recovering from their early setback but Town's joy quickly doubled when Danny Green picked out Olly Lee and the midfielder delivered the killer blow.

It was his third of the campaign and they've all been crackers.

But the Yellowbats are a team in League Two's second spot for a reason and they came steaming back with a 51st minute header from Che Dunkley. Still Luton didn't crumble.

Then, as if his first goal had wiped away four months of nerves and derision, Pigott pulled the ball down and, in one fluid movement, slotted into the bottom corner. Boss Nathan Jones has been promising that the 22-year-old was a technical finisher and here was the evidence.

In a touching moment after the final whistle, Jones physically pushed the player forward to take the applause of the 816 travelling Town fans – some, perhaps, doing so while tucking into a slice of humble pie.

The only disappointment was that, despite this victory Luton moved no closer to the play-off positions as results elsewhere keeping them six points adrift with four games remaining.

But while hopes of breaking into that top seven were not, realistically, on the agenda, the significance of this result, this performance, can form the blueprint for next season. All the unwanted records have been chalked off under Jones. No league wins at Mansfield? Dispensed with. No first half home goals in nine games? Done. And dusted? That horrific Football League record – five days short two years – of capitulation after conceding.

The slate is now clean and Jones will set about constructing a team that, next term, can challenge consistently – one that lives up to the grand ambitions laid out on Friday, when further plans for a new stadium in Power Court were unveiled as part of a huge £1.5 billion investment in the town.

ON THE BALL:
Joe Pigott scored twice for the Hatters

For now we must be content with nods to that not-to-distant future in 2020. A third straight substitute appearance for 19-year-old youth team graduate Zane Banton and a late returning cameo for Jake Howells – after a knee operation – continued the home-grown promise, while the recent re-emergence of Pelly Ruddock Mpanzu as a playmaker caught the eye.

The former West Ham man just needs to add composure to his all-action presence as he could have scored in the first half if he'd have realised the acres of space afford him, instead of scuffling wide. But save that analysis for another day. This was a day for positives.

Alongside that display was a milestone 200th appearance for Alex Lawless and he added some grit to the heart of the Hatters midfield which, along with saves from Elliot Justham and dogged defensive displays, meant Town saw off Oxford's late surge, handing Northampton the title.

Though the Hatters backline still would have been disappointed by the horror start they dug in and began to command possession without cutting Oxford open. That was until Büchel's goalkeeping gaffe and a grandstand first half finish.

Even when Che Dunkley headed the hosts level at 2-2, early in the second half, the Hatters looked dangerous on the counter and they struck the killer blow with a good break and an even more glorious Pigott finish.

For Jones' Luton it could be a wonderful beginning.
